Defense Course To Be Required Of Playground Staff

Andover's playground instructors will be required to take a course in defense work this year, so that in the event of an emergency the proper precautions may be taken at the playgrounds. Stafford A. Lindsay, chairman of the playground committee, has been named playground defense co-ordinator in accordance with a state request.

The course will take six hours, and will be held next Monday and Tuesday evenings, starting at 7:30, in the court room, lower town hall. After the course there will be an examination, and certificates will be issued to those who pass.

The lecturers on Monday evening will be Chiefs Dane and Buchan, and Roscoe E. Dake. On Tuesday evening attorney Walter C. Tomlinson, Norman Miller and John D. Little will give the lecture.

The playgrounds will open on July first. The first three days will be devoted to registration, and equipment will go up on July 6.

Plans For Plaque Well Advanced By Legion Committee

Plans for the erection of a large plaque with individual plates bearing the names of all Andover boys now in service have been considerably furthered during the past two weeks. The plaque itself is practically built and ready for installation in front of the town hall.

Each name plate will be seven inches long, of white enameled masonite with black lettering. The plates will be separated by grooved strips of stainless steel, so that the alphabetical arrangements of names may be changed, or new names added, easily and quickly.

The completed plaque should be erected shortly, possibly for the Fourth of July. It will be large enough to accommodate 1000 names, and will probably bear close to 400 when first erected. Lists of local servicemen are now being secured from the churches and other sources of information.

Arrangements are now being made under the direction of an American Legion committee including Stafford A. Lindsay and Thomas P. Dea, co-chairmen, and Clifford W. Dunnells, secretary. The above and John H. Grecoe are in charge of securing the names to be inserted; Arthur E. Steinert and Lewis W. Muise, of building the foundation; Frank McCarthy, of the erection of the plaque; Joseph T. Remmes, of its lighting; and Edgar Northam, heads the plaque finance committee.

Postpone Gas Re-registration Present Cards To Extend A Week

The registration for gas rationing has been deferred one week, according to word received here unofficially yesterday. Superintendent of schools Edward Erickson up to yesterday afternoon had received no official communication, but reports believed reliable emanating from Washington indicated that the July 1, 2, and 3 dates had been changed to July 9, 10, and 11.

It is also understood that extra gasoline will be made available to tide motorists over until the new rationing goes into effect. The validity of the present cards will be extended.

Registration hours will be announced next week.

The local teachers will again do the registering.

Two Teachers To Be Named

There is a possibility that two teachers will be appointed next Tuesday night at a special meeting of the school committee. The vacancies which may be filled are those of teacher-coach Anton Kishon and social studies instructor Ralph Sturke. Mr. Kishon has been appointed to the Phillips academy faculty, and Mr. Sturke is now superintendent of the North Reading schools.

The sub-committee on teachers will meet with the local ministers Friday night to further consider a plan for the introduction of religious education in the schools.

The special meeting Tuesday will probably be the last of the summer. Routine matters will be cleaned up at that time.

Appointed Fiduciary Agent Of War Damage Corporation

Co-operating with the Federal government in connection with its war damage insurance plan effective July 1, the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Company has been appointed a fiduciary agent of the War Damage Corporation, Edward C. Nichols, secretary, announced today.

The War Damage Corporation, a billion dollar government owned organization will handle all war risk insurance beginning July 1. The automatic war damage insurance protection now being furnished free of charge by the government is to terminate on June 30. Applications for this new form of insurance will be handled by established insurance agents and brokers. The policies will be written and serviced by private fire insurance companies. The fire insurance industry has offered its services in the distribution of this war damage insurance on a no-profit basis in order to contribute to the war effort and avoid the expense of a new government agency.

Secretary Nichols announced that all of the agents of the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Company in twenty-two states will be authorized to utilize the home office facilities of the company in Andover for the handling of war damage insurance. He pointed out that the charge for war risk insurance is so small that every property owner should carry a policy. A man owning a $3,000 home, $1,000 worth of furniture and an automobile valued at $500 would pay only $.10 per $100 of valuation, or $.45 to have all of his property insured for one year. Churches, hospitals, educational institutions, libraries, museums, public buildings take a rate of $.10 per hundred if fire resistive otherwise the rate is $.15. The rate for apartments, hotels, offices, mercantile, warehouse and non-manufacturing buildings is $.15 per hundred if fire resistive, otherwise $.20. For certain classes of property, other than dwellings, these rates are subject to reduction depending on the type of coinsurance clause that is used. Many banks are buying this insurance for properties for which they are mortgagees.

It should be made clear to the public, Mr. Nichols said, that war damage protection is not afforded under the ordinary fire insurance policy which specifically excludes damage resulting from war or invasion. Property owners desiring this protection should make application immediately to their insurance agent or broker who is prepared to provide complete information.

Yes, You! IF YOU KNOW WHAT'S GOOD FOR YOU

BIG BRUISEK: What do you mean, I don't know what's good for me?

BRIGHT YOUNG MAN: Well, if you did, you'd need it. A quart of milk a day will give it to you.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL

The lawn of the Methodist Church will be the scene of a strawberry festival this evening at 6:30. Mrs. William MacCausland and her committee will be in charge of the sale of strawberries, hot dogs, tonic, candy and ice cream. During the evening there will be entertainment.

EXCHANGE MINISTERS

Rev. Richard Warren will preach this Sunday at the Union Congregational Church in place of Rev. David Segestrom who will preach in Saxtonville.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The annual picnic of the West Church Sunday School will be held on Saturday, June 27, at Stearns Pond, Harold Parker State Forest. Cars will leave the vestry at 9:30. Bath houses are available for those wishing to use them and dinners may be cooked on fireplaces if so desired.

BIG BRUISEK: What do you mean, I don't know what's good for me?

BRIGHT YOUNG MAN: Well, if you did, you'd drink plenty of milk, 'cause that's what's good for you.

B. B.: But I'm grown up . . .

B. Y. M.: Just 'cause you're big and brawny, don't think you don't need calcium to be healthy.

B. B.: Calcium?

B. Y. M.: Yes, calcium — the bone-builder. Every-body needs calcium for healthy bones and teeth, normal heart action—whether you're six or sixty, you need it. A quart of milk a day will give it to you.

B. B.: What's that got to do with milk?

B. Y. M.: Well, milk is about the best place to get it. You need about 1/4 teaspoonful of calcium every day, and milk gives you all of that.

B. B.: Yeah!—and what else?

B. Y. M.: Plenty, Mister—Minerals, Vitamins, Proteins and Energy. Milk gives you all these to make you strong and healthy to do your part to win the war.

B. B.: Really? Thanks, Buddy. Guess I'll take my 4 glasses every day, beginning now.

— And say, Mister — be sure it's Hood's Milk. You'll like Hood's, and just remember, it's protected all the way from farm to doorstep by Hood's famous system of Country and Laboratory Control — the result of 96 years' dairy experience.

War Damage and Bombardment Insurance

Shortly after Pearl Harbor a temporary free insurance plan was set up by the government to protect you against loss to your property in case of enemy attack. This plan was merely a stop gap to allow time to work out a permanent insurance program and will expire on June 30, 1942.

If you wish to protect your property after June 30 you can do so by purchasing an insurance policy in the government-owned War Damage Corporation. These policies will be issued and serviced for the government by private fire insurance companies which have volunteered to serve as "fiduciary agents" of the War Damage Corporation.

To obtain this protection you should make arrangements NOW through your fire insurance agent or broker who is authorized to accept your application. Under government regulations all copies of your application must be signed and accompanied by payment of the full premium. The insurance will not become effective until noon Standard time of the day your completed application is received in the office of a fire insurance company that has been officially appointed as a "fiduciary agent."

War damage insurance will protect you against loss resulting from an invasion or by armed forces of the United States while resisting an invasion. It also protects you in the event of a fire or conflagration resulting from incendiary bombs or military action, all of which is excluded under the terms of your ordinary fire insurance policy.

The rates for this insurance are very low as will be seen by the following schedule applying to the more common types of property. The minimum premium is $3.00 per policy.

Dwellings and contents (less than 5 families), including private garages, outbuildings and pleasure automobiles.....	$10
Farm property and contents, including private garages, barns, outbuildings, farm implements, automobiles and livestock.....	$10
*Churches, hospitals, educational institutions, libraries, museums and public buildings, fire resistive.....	$10
All other.....	$15
*Apartments, hotels, offices, mercantiles, warehouses and non-manufacturing buildings, fire resistive.....	$15
All other.....	$20
*Manufacturing plants, piers, walls, bridges, and all other structures, fire resistive.....	$20
All other.....	$30

*Rates for properties marked with an asterisk contemplate insurance will equal 50% of property value. Lower rates may be obtained if percentage of insurance to value is increased to 80% or more.

Complete information regarding War Damage Insurance may be obtained from any authorized insurance agent or broker or from the company.

We telephone people deserve some of the credit, no doubt—the way we've sold people on telephoning, all these years.
But now success proves a boomerang... the War pro-talkers are a problem. You see, switchboards can handle only so many conversations at building switchboards are on

If anyone had told us, a year

A PIG

has no place in a coach seat!

You can dress a pig up any way you choose—you can even kill him, cure him, polish him, and make him into a pigskin bag—but he's still out of place in a coach seat!

Yes, Vacationers and Weekenders, we're still talking to you. We refer to the half-dozen suitcases you take on weekend trips. We think your reluctance to be parted from a one of them—yes, even one little overnight bag—shows commendable loyalty. But it's unfair to Organized Train Travel.

In the carefree days B. G. R. (Before Gas Rationing), we had room enough on our Boston and Maine cars to let you put your extra bags on the seat beside you. Nowadays, though, we need every empty seat for human passengers. It's hardly fair to let suitcases ride in plushy comfort, while paying customers stand.

So we ask that you check your bags from now on. It won't cost you a penny. It will make more room for everybody. And it'll keep the pigs safe and snug in the baggage car, where they belong.

HOW

TO CHECK YOUR BAGGAGE

Practically all trains carry baggage cars. Here's how to check your personal baggage. It's as simple as this:

1. Present your ticket and baggage to the Baggage Room attendant.
2. He will issue you an individual claim check and attach a duplicate check to your baggage.
3. Upon arrival at your destination present your claim check to the agent (allowing sufficient time for loading and unloading trains).
4. Your baggage will be delivered to you at the station free of charge.

BOSTON and MAINE

Editorials

Landlords and Community Pride

Out in Pittsfield the other day the Berkshire Evening Eagle printed an article by the noted Boston landscape architect, Egbert Hans, on the beauty of Andover. The reading of such an article would cause any Andoverite to feel indeed proud of his town, were it not for the fact that he might be spending more time wondering why the writer hadn't seen the other parts of the town.

Yes, there are sections of Andover that are truly beautiful, but because Phillips, Abbot and Shawsheen and sundry residential sections are pretty, we shouldn't blind ourselves to the fact that some parts of Andover are definitely ugly. Of course, most of it can't be helped by the general populace, for unfortunately the Constitution forbids the passage of any zoning act which would apply to dwellings and buildings existing at the time of the passage of the act.

It really is up to the individual landlord, but for some reason or other many of our local landlords aren't too much interested in adding to the town's beauty. Our business section could be a much more attractive stretch, and certainly some of our residential sections could stand a lot of improvement. Even granted that the houses were poorly and unattractively built in the first place, it would seem that landlords might have sufficient community pride to do something about it. Real estate holding is more than a matter of collecting rents, especially in a town like Andover where from a tax angle real estate holding isn't too expensive a problem.

Law-breaking Enforcers

We can't help but be a bit interested in the goings-on in our neighboring city of Lawrence, and if we have to provide some reason for an Andover paper's editorializing on a Lawrence subject, we might say that it's a man for whom we vote who should have seen that the Lawrence mess was straightened out. At a recent Service club meeting when assistant attorney general Volpe spoke, he was asked why the local district attorney had done nothing about it. There can be only one answer, and that is negligence, or failure to perform the duties that he had asked the electorate to allow him to perform.

Now over in Lawrence the police and fire departments are being run by a man who has been sentenced to jail for conspiracy in connection with the selection of a superintendent of schools. He has gone through due process of law, and though a good many people believe him innocent, the fact remains that the duly constituted courts have found him guilty, and therefore Lawrence should refuse to allow him to run those two departments.

And the superintendent of schools has pleaded guilty in connection with the purchase of his job. Despite that the school committee on Monday evening voted four to one to retain him as superintendent. It doesn't leave a very good taste in the mouths of law-respecting citizens, does it? In fact, to all future potential officeholders it is a pretty good guarantee that they can get away with almost anything.

Lawrence is strangely without leadership for good. There seems to be no force which will rally public opinion behind decent, honest, clean government. Lawrence needs that leadership, but she doesn't seem to have it and no one seems to care.

Probably the only other thing left for those citizens who want to see the law administered and enforced by men who themselves obey the law is to wage a determined campaign to elect a district attorney who will see that crooked politics do not exist in his county.

This Sober Town

Anent the editorial in last week's issue advocating a general beautifying job on the town hall, we received, this week, an anonymous suggestion that the building be renamed as well as refurbished. We might honor our three selectmen in the process, calling the edifice "Roy Everett Hall."

We were quite pleased at our manly appearance in those Flag Day movies last week; we had never realized before that we are so photogenic. A kind critic has volunteered the opinion that we photograph quite as well as the Lone Ranger's horse, though our face does betray a little less emotion.

And, though we always realized that the Punchard Girls' Band looked like a group of movie stars, we didn't foresee that they would be in movies too.

Rumors around town this week that we are soon to co-star with Bette Davis in "The Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire," we regret to announce, are wholly without foundation.

The allegation that Andover does not nowadays produce as many noted men as once it did, we find, is so much nonsense. A glance through the street-list, for instance, will prove that, living right here in Andover, are such celebrated personages as Howard Johnson, Arthur Heifitz, Bert Wheeler, William Faulkner, Daniel Webster, Alfred Smith, A. J. Cronin, William Perry, James Thomson, George Gordon, William F. Leahy, James Watt, Andrew Jackson, William Morris, Ralph W. Emerson, John Barry, Davy Jones, Joe Martin, Dorothy Thompson,....and we could go on.

There are two kinds of anthra-won't bank well. "White-Ash" is

Andover Drama Festival
Expected To Attract
Many Theater-goers

The opening of the Andover
Drama Festival on Monday evening, June 25th, at the Memorial Auditorium will be of unusual interest to the theater-going public of this vicinity.

Guy Palmerton, prominent young New York and stock producer, has made arrangements to present his company of established players in a series of Broadway successes at popular prices. Mr. Palmerton definitely feels that Andover and surrounding cities will welcome his organization and that there is a decided interest in the legitimate theater among local residents. He is confident that an all-professional company of equity players maintaining a high standard of production will have unusual opportunities.

This season the players will appear for one performance weekly, but will arrange for additional performances as local interest warrants. Monday night of each week has been selected as the time for the presentation of the Festival season plays.

The Hollywood Star, Michael Whalen, will play the leading male role in the first production, which is the Theater Guild success "The Philadelphia Story" by Philip Barry.
He will be supported by such fine players as Ann Mason, Glen Langan, Frank Lyon, Mary Elliott, Louise Kirtland, and many others.

Other stage and screen celebrities who will appear here this season are Elissa Landi in Somerset Maugham's recent New York success "Theater" and Gloria Swanson, one of the amusement industry's most famous actresses in "Reflected Glory" by George Kelly.

All seats for the Monday evening performance will be reserved and mail orders will be filled in the order of their arrival.
